The varnish adds a mighty invisible and natural barrier to the floor, against the enemies of hygiene, especially those we can't see, like germs and bacteria, and it eliminates up to 99% of the bacterial population in just 24 hours!

In harmony with nature and human wellbeing, our water-based sanitizing varnish is biocompatible and without any health risks.

DEMAND FSC®
CERTIFIED PRODUCTS

The FSC® Custody Chain certification (Chain of Custody, COC) ensures to the customer and consumer that the raw material of which a product is composed derives from a supply chain that respects the responsible management of forests, in accordance with strict environmental, social and economic requirements of the FSC®.

Thanks to this certification, an organisation can demonstrate in a correct, transparent and controlled manner, its active contribution to responsible forest management.

PEFC CHAIN OF CUSTODY
CERTIFICATION

Chain of Custody certification to PEFC Standards ensures end users that the products they buy are made of timber from sustainable forest management, involving a series of activities exclude:

- illegal felling or illegal trade of forest products;
- violation of the population's traditions and rights pertaining to forestry;
- destruction by forestry operations of valuable environments worthy of preservation;
- conversion of significant natural forest areas into plantations;
- introduction of GMOs into the environment.

Chain of Custody certification outlines requirements for tracking certified material from the forest to the final product to ensure that the wood contained in the product or product line originates from certified forests and requires that no timber from controversial sources (e.g. illegal felling or protected areas) enters the certified product chain.

YOU CAN BE SURE OF THE QUALITY OF OUR WOODEN FLOORS.

Quality Management Certification (regulated by ISO 9000 framework standards) assures that an organization (manufacturer or service provider) is able to run a structure and manage its resources and production processes in a way that recognises and meets customers' needs (including those relating to observation of mandatory requisites) and implement commitments to continuously improve such ability. The Standards that define the requisites developed by ISO (International Organization for Standardization) for quality control lead organizations to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of their processes for the purpose of increasing customer/user satisfaction.

ISO 14001 comprises voluntary international standards applicable to every type of enterprise, which define the way to develop an effective Environmental Management System. ISO 14001 certification is proof of a real commitment to minimizing the carbon footprint of processes, products and services and attests to the reliability of the Environmental Management System applied.

The Standards require the company to define its aims and environmental targets and implement an EMS through which to achieve them.

The EMS defined by ISO 14001 is based on conformity to legislation, continuous improvement and pollution prevention.

An Environmental Management System makes it possible to:

- adopt a structured approach to defining environmental objectives and identifying the necessary instruments for their achievement;
- identify environmental hazards and opportunities for improvement;
- ensure observance of all the standards applicable to the environment;
- reduce costs linked to energy consumption, waste and raw materials management;
- implement a continuous improvement process relating to its environmental performance;
- increase the company's value on the market by thoroughly analysing its environmental problems, in legal, technical or management terms.

CERTIFICATIONS

TÜV PROFICERT

“TÜV PROFiCERT-product Interior” certification involves quality criteria regarding emissions of volatile organic compounds from products installed in homes.

This voluntary certification aims to safeguard people’s health and the quality of products used, in order to ensure guaranteed quality.

‘TÜV PROFiCERT-product Interior’ certification is based on the following three points:

- Initial type tests on products;
- Regular production monitoring in situ;
- Regular product monitoring;

Certified products meet all the requirements of diverse environmental labels, such as AgBB, Belgian VOC Regulation, Finnish M1 Classification, French VOC Regulations A+, BREEAM, and LEED and are tested by an independent laboratory, which excludes self-declaration by the producer.

As well as approval tests, certification also foresees periodical checks on products released onto the market, and further testing on the manufacturer’s premises (audit).

Observing these procedures guarantees customers a high rate of safety. Criteria for ‘TÜV PROFiCERT-product Interior’ are defined so that dealers and consumers have access to transparent, reliable and comparable procutd information.

CE MARK

Products used in constructions are subject to the European Union’s regulations regarding free circulation of goods, in particular to the rules governing safety in buildings, health, sustainability, energy savings and environmental protection. EU regulation No. 305/2011 aims at simplifying the legislation applicable to construction products and determines the conditions for their release onto the market.

Any manufacturer who wishes to release onto the market a construction product that comes under a harmonised standard, must fill in a declaration of performance with the following information:

- Product reference;
- The tests and assessment systems used to check the constancy of the product’s performance;
- Use/s for which the product is designed;
- Declared performance.

MADE IN ITALY

The Institute for the Protection of Italian Manufacturers has implemented a certification system according to which manufacturers distinguish their creations from those of doubtful Italian origin to assure end users of their origins and quality.

Goods carrying the Made in Italy label must be:

- manufactured entirely in Italy;
- made from prime quality natural materials;
- made to the manufacturer’s exclusive designs and plans;
- manufactured using typical traditional Italian craftsmanship.

They must also be:

- manufactured observing safety regulations;
- manufactured observing hygiene regulations.

Products 100% Made in Italy are traceable and identified by a progressive number and a holograph against falsification.

SIZES

We make your wishes take shape by offering you extraordinary freedom to create a floor with boards of the dimensions you prefer. Our vast variety of sizes in both length and width allow us to adapt to the unique character of any ambience and achieve perfect good looks with splendid laying patterns.

WIDTHS

Make way for beauty

Composing a wooden floor is an intriguing game of proportions, thicknesses and sizes. Seconding your personal interpretation of a wooden floor, it is extremely easy to vary the size of the boards, from the narrowest to the widest, until you find the most spectacular combination that highlights the texture, knots and grain of the wood.

LENGTHS

Endless emotion

You are free to let your imagination race along a CP Parquet floor and hear the tale of nature on the boards. Large sizes enhance wood from large trees and quality felling. The wonderful grain is evident along the entire length. Maxi sizes also guarantee that stability is absolute.

2-LAYERS

Discover perfectly balanced stability and practicality.

Antico Asolo 2-layers floor boards produce maximum aesthetic quality and strength in a minimum thickness. The robust top layer features valuable wood, backed by solid natural wood. The boards are pre-finished, smoothed and varnished to allow quick laying and an impeccable finish.

3-LAYERS

The unalterable beauty of Antico Asolo 3-layers wooden floor will last a lifetime.

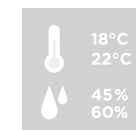

Its structure of three crossover layers of real wood guarantees exceptional stability over time, even for extra long and extra wide boards. Robust thickness in valuable wood enhances both the visible top layer and the quality counterbalancing layer, ensuring great strength.

IMPRONTE

The new “IMPRONTE” surface processing creates a textured effect that brings out the faint marks left by sawing, as if the boards had been sawn by hand.

TAGLIO SEGA (SAW CUTTING)

By revisiting traditional processes using old saws we have created a textured finish that enhances the roughness, grooves and stripes typical of hand-sawn wooden boards.

BRUSHED

Special brushes that delicately remove the softest part of the wooden surface are used to reveal the natural grain without spoiling the fibres.

PRESANDED

The beauty of simplicity is exalted by hand planing the wood to give the surface a smooth touch and uniform appearance.
PRESANDED surfaces are ideal for finishes with neutral varnish and neutral or tinted oil.

MAREA

Wonderful little waves ripple around the knots in the wood of floorboards in the new MAREA line and give them a more authentic, intriguing and attractive worn look.

ONDA (WAVE)

This exclusive process reproduces the natural ripples occurring around knots as wood shrinks over time, creating an incredibly realistic aged effect.

HAND-PLANED/
WORM-EATEN EFFECT

The hands of master craftsmen still perform this skilful treatment. Small planes are used to create a slightly gouged irregular surface that gives an antique, rustic touch.

RISACCA

The exclusive processing reproduces the sinking of the knots enhanced by deep brushing and creating the effect of a floor of yesteryear.

FLOOR LANDSCAPE

The new capsule collection by Monica Armani

Designed by Architect Monica Armani, FLOOR LANDSCAPE capsule collection is the result of a multidisciplinary approach to the theme of surfaces that, thanks to the collaboration and craftsmanship of CP Parquet, starts from the study of Italian culture linked to art, to sculpture and architecture, to give life to a modern and design product.

NEW DECORATIVE EFFECTS
FOR YOUR ENVIRONMENTS

Intimate knowledge of the secrets of wood and the continuous search for innovation in parquet processing techniques, have led CP Parquet to produce a never before seen boiserie collection: iCanneti, new surfaces that decorate walls with a geometric, extraordinarily modern and dynamic rhythm.

With its refined, neat and essential design, iCanneti magnificently decorates walls with great charm and a designer touch and lends elegance and a bold character to the rooms where it is applied.

Made on 3-Layers Antico Asolo planks with end-to-end length compatible with the CP Parquet clip-in boiserie system, iCanneti are available in different colors and wood species as American Walnut / European Oak, with optional variations on request according to individual furnishing needs.

COLLECTION FORME

Arranged vertically for wall paneling or on the floor, wooden elements create magnificent decorative cladding that ooze charm and style.

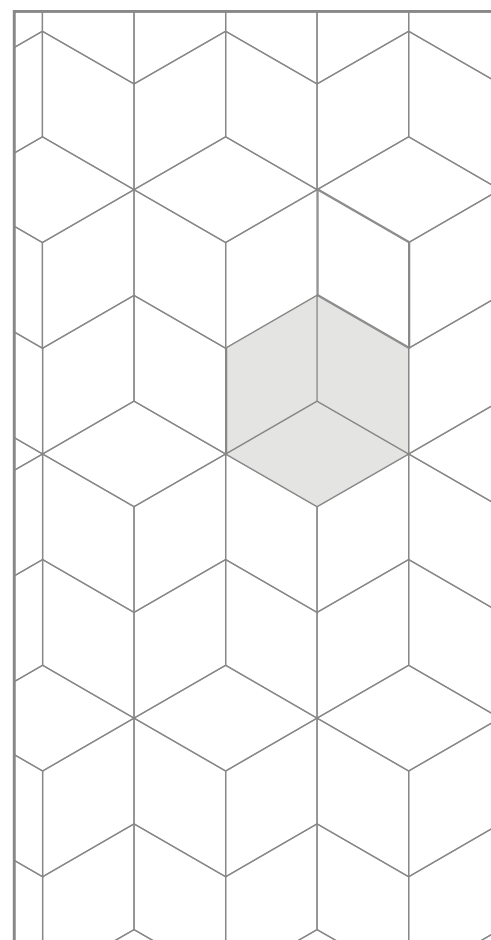

Textures are created by using wood elements in different colours and shapes, composed in evocative modular patterns. Innovation and tradition meet through these original ideas by CP Parquet due to exclusive, stunning design that expresses the very best in craftsmanship, as the compositions are created by hand during installation.

CHEVRON

THICKNESS 11-15 MM

The charm of old floors with small format Chevron and Herringbone that were much appreciated in the '60s and '70s and installed using a special technique on sand, has come back to life in a modern and exciting interpretation of CP Parquet.

Thanks to their small size and the craft machining of the surface, these floors retain a visual effect of great impact and elegance.

QUADROTTE

Neoclassical charm is re-interpreted by the new collection of Antico Asolo 2-layers Quadrotte. Refined original square shaped wooden flooring harks back to traditional patterns, giving them a more modern air with minimalist design and evocative, more delicate textures. Quadrotte have a valuable wood top layer matched with a birch plywood on bottom layer.

MOSAICO 3D

3D CLASSICO

3D MURETTO

Unique of its kind, Mosaico 3D is a marvel of design: amazing three-dimensional decorative cladding.

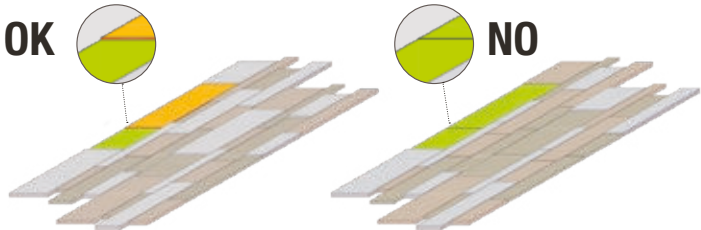

The wooden insets are placed on the wall at random, creating enchanting three-dimensional effects, staggered or misaligned surfaces, patterns of suspended volume and fascinating effects of light and shade. The insets are fixed onto a net backing to make the application simple.

HOW TO LAY PLATES

Product name: Mosaici d’Asolo.
Description and composition of the single elements:
4 mm wooden upper layer, finished using two-component acrylic varnish.
Support layer in layersfied HPL support material. Formaldehyde emission: Class E1.
Types of wood available:
Oak (Quercus petraea (Matt.) Liebl., Q. robur L.)
Wengè (Millettia laurentii De Wild)
Canadian maple (Aver saccharum Marsh.)
Doussie (Afzelia spp.)
Iroko (Milicia excelsa (Welw) C.C. Berg) - (Milicia regia (A. Chev.) C.C. Berg)
Teak (Tectona grandis L.F.).
Each wood species will vary when exposed to light for a long period (oxidation).
Measurement of single wooden elements:
23 x 23 mm to 98 x 98 mm.
Description of composition on mesh:
Mosaic sheets formed of single wooden elements glued together, using Laticrete 9237 adhesive, on a nylon sheet.
Measurements of composition on mesh: 264.4 x 297.7 mm - 297.7 x 297.7 mm - 298 x 298 mm.
Destination of use: Use as flooring – Use as cladding for vertical surfaces.

LAYING WITH CEMENT GLUE

Mosaici d’Asolo tiles can be laid with any of the following types of cement glue: Litokol Litoplus K55-Laticrete 180 – Kerakoll H40 Tenax – Mapei Adesilex P10 + Isolastic.

Preparing the mixture:

Follow the mixture ratio given exactly
Pour the amount of water stated into a clean container and add the powder slowly, using an electric drill with a screw mixer attachment to blend it into an even, lump-free paste. Set aside for at least 5 minutes and then mix again quickly (for a few seconds).

Application:

Using the smooth side of the spatula, spread an approximately 1 mm thick layer of mixture over the base; follow this immediately afterwards by a second application, using the toothed part of the spatula this time. Place the Mosaici d’Asolo tile on top of the glue, applying a certain pressure to ensure it comes into contact with the glue. Wait the open (drying) time required for the glue before laying the material. Very hot or windy climates, or extremely absorbent bases can reduce drying time dramatically, to just a few minutes, so we recommend you check it often, to make sure the glue has not formed a surface film. If it has, simply run the toothed edge of the spatula over it again. If you are tiling walls and using cement glues, the joints can be sealed after about 8 hours, with Litochrom Starlike epoxy sealant.

LAYING WITH LITOCHROM STARLIKE EPOXY MORTAR

Because of Litochrom Starlike’s thixotropic properties, if used for laying Mosaici D’Asolo, the tiles can be grouted straight away.

GROUTING MOSAICI D’ASOLO TILES

When grouting Mosaici d’Asolo tiles, use a two-component epoxy grout like Litochrom Starlike, in an appropriate colour.

Preparing the mixture:

Snip off a corner of the bag containing the catalyst (component B), which you will find inside the bucket, then pour it into component A (paste). We recommend you pour in the entire contents of the catalyst bag; to do this, roll up the bag and squeeze out the contents, working from the end opposite the corner you have cut off. Using an electric drill with a screw mixer attachment, blend it into an even, lump-free paste. Scrape the sides and bottom of the bucket with a spatula or trowel to make sure all the mixture comes into contact with the catalyst.

It is not advisable to mix by hand. The two components are contained in pre-measured packs so it is impossible to get the mixing proportions wrong. The mixture remains workable for about 45 minutes at a temperature of about 23°C.

Grouting Mosaici d’Asolo tiles

Apply the mixture obtained to the joints, using a rubber-coated spatula and making diagonal movements across the direction of the joints; remove the surplus with the same rubber-coated spatula.

Cleaning and finishing

The grouting must be cleaned and finished as soon as possible, i.e. when the product is still wet; care must be taken not to remove the grouting from the joints or leave marks on the surface:

- sprinkle the grouted surface with clean water beforehand;
- for the first cleaning stage, dampen the white felt-coated spatula, then wipe it over the tiles, working in a circular motion (both clockwise and anticlockwise), so as to seal the edges of the tesserae perfectly; then remove the surplus sealant from the surface of the tile;
- next, wipe over the tiles with a stiff sweepex sponge to ensure the finished surface is smooth and sealed; remove all the sealant from the tesserae, taking care not to remove it from the joints, then dry off the excess water.

Using LITONET

To remove clear marks (typical of catalyzed products), we recommend you use LITONET detergent, proceeding as outlined below:

- About 20 minutes after the first cleaning stage, wipe over the tiles a second time with a sweepex sponge, using LITONET detergent diluted with clean water, with a ratio of 1:1; leave the detergent to work for about 15 minutes, then rinse off with clean water.

Caution!

- mix the two components (A+B) correctly
  - change the washing water frequently
  - change the felt and the sponge once they are drenched with the product
  - carry out the final cleaning stage, with LITONET, within 12 hours.
- Further technical information regarding the product’s characteristics and application fields can be found on the specifications sheet in the Litokol catalogue. We advise you read this to ensure correct use.

PREFINITO C70 - C120 - C150
(ENGINEERED PRE-FINISHED 2-LAYERS)

Wooden planks with plywood support from broadleaf trees (hardwood) and conifers (softwood) with tongue and grove on 4 sides. Quality corresponds to European Standard EN 13489. Colour differences between the planks are due to natural tree growth.

DECKING

The pleasure of wooden floors has no bounds. Even outdoors, in the garden or around a swimming pool you can experience the thrill of wood and contact with nature through the amazing qualities of Burma teak and heat treated ash: the best types of wood to resist water, weather and xylophagous basidiomycota fungi. When exposure of wood to the sun over time tends to cause a natural change in colour, this can be remedied by using oil or special stains. Concealed clips and easy joints make laying simple.

WOODEN FLOOR MAINTENANCE

As it is a natural material, wood reacts to changes in environmental conditions. An r.a.h. (relative air humidity) of 40% to 60% represents an ideal environment for wooden floors. In winter, artificial room heating tends to make the flooring shrink, which can lead to splitting. Use special humidifiers to prevent the air in the rooms becoming too dry. Hygrometers and thermometers should also be used to keep an eye on room conditions. Caring for a pre-finished wooden floor involves just a few simple rules. Use a broom or vacuum cleaner for daily cleaning, and stains should be removed with a damp cloth. Only ever use the recommended cleaners, NEVER ammonia-based products. Room temperature should be kept at 18-22°, with a relative humidity of 45-60%; this is the key to your wooden floor long life and its integrity.

We also recommend the use of an air humidifier. Wear is an inevitable characteristic of a living material such as wood but, over time, it actually contributes to the floor's beauty by creating a 'lived in' feel. Accidental damage can be avoided by sticking felt pads onto the base of chair legs and any other furniture that is often moved around. Areas which are most frequently walked over, such as doorways and hallways, can be protected with rugs; flower and plant pots should be provided with suitable bases to prevent water spilling out of them.

The use of quality finishing materials and suitable care products will help to keep the wood flooring looking good over a long lifetime.

WOODEN FLOOR CLEANING

ORDINARY MAINTENANCE:

- Varnished floors: use of DETERSOAP (sanitizer)
- Oiled floors: use of DETERSOAP (sanitizer) and CLEANWAX (reviver)
- Waxed floors: use of DETERSOAP (sanitizer) and LIGNOLUX (wax/oiled)

EXTRAORDINARY MAINTENANCE:

Contact a professional technician/fitter.

DETERSOAP use instructions:

Dilute 1:1-4 parts in warm water: perfect for dirt removal during periodic floor cleaning
Dilute 1:50 – 60 parts equal to 1/3 glasses in 8 - 10 litres in warm water: perfect for daily floor cleaning.

Damp the cloth in the solution obtained and wring out excess water. For oiled or waxed floors, we recommend using 2 water buckets: one to be used with the cleaning solution and the other for rinsing the dirt cloth after every pass on the floor to be cleaned.

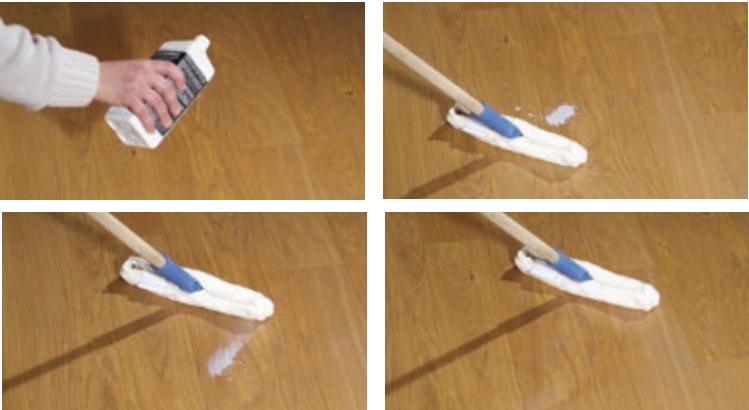

Clean the floor thoroughly and evenly. At the end the floor will be clean and sanitised.

CLEANWAX is a natural wax- and resin-based products. It revives and preserves the protective and aesthetic features of the initial surface treatments without wax building up. It does not release toxic or harmful substances. Cleanwax has different features according to the colour of the oiled surface finish (neutral Cleanwax for natural oiled finish - white Cleanwax for white oiled finish - chestnut-coloured Cleanwax for distressed finish).

CLEANWAX use instructions: use instructions: pure on floors previously cleaned using Detersoap (1 litre for a 30-40/sqm surface). Apply the product using a special cloth for wax application in a thin and even layer avoiding build-up.

It requires a single application. DO not walk over the floor until it is completely dry (between 15 and 30 minutes depending on the room temperature) in order not to leave foot prints or marks on the floor surface. When completely dry, rub the surface with a wool cloth or use a polisher with felt pads for a more glossy appearance. Frequency: follow instructions on wax bottle.

LIGNOLUX Solvent solution of mineral. Ideally for regular maintenance and for cleaning of waxed and oiled wood floors treatments. Not suitable for varnished parquets and laminate. Yield: 1lt / 30-40 sqm

LIGNOLUX use instructions: On floors, spray small quantities of LIGNOLUX on the surface and spread a thin layer of the product with a soft cloth without leaving excess and buff until it is completely dry. Dries quickly (2 - 4 hours in well ventilated rooms). It does not release toxic or harmful substances.

WOODEN FLOOR INSTALLATION

Sub-floors:

Having the best sub-floor means achieving the best results in creating a timber floor.

Screed:

The screed, or generally the load-bearing layer, constitutes the support which must give adequate resistance to the various mechanical stresses imparted by the floor itself and the floor in use, like static and dynamic loads. The screed is always laid on a vapour membrane (on upper levels) or on a vapour barrier (on ground floors or above basements) for insulation. The screed must be gapped and separated from the walls (perimeter joints) by suitable strips of compressible material.

To lay the timber floor the screed must have the following characteristics:

- compactness in its full thickness
- sufficient and constant thickness (5-7 mm cement screed; 3-5 mm anhydrite screed).
- inflexibility, especially in areas where pipes pass below
- protection against water seepage and formation of condensation
- hard surface
- absence of live cracks and fissures
- dimensions, planarity and horizontal position
- level of surface texture
- cleanness

The pre-finished wooden floor can be laid on old rigid floors, like tiles, ceramic, marble and derivatives, stones, etc. old wooden floors planks or panels.

Heated screed:

The heated screed is a cement base of hydraulic binders or anhydrite, with water pipes running through its thickness to heat the spaces instead of by means of radiators or other external systems.

Laying conditions:

Having verified all the requirements necessary for laying the wooden floor, the moisture content allowed, determined by carbide hygrometer, cannot be greater than the values of:

- cement screed or hydraulic binders (1,7%)
- anhydrite screeds (0,3%)

The gradual warming up of the heating floor system has the function of stabilising the base, slowly reducing any tension and bringing it to a drying level corresponding to that of balance with the ambient conditions in which it will find itself, once in service, so that it cannot transfer moisture to the wood flooring. The minimum thickness of the screed must be of 6cm of which 3 above the pipes. Before putting the heating floor system into action the screed must have a minimum curing time of at least:

- cement screeds: 21 days
- anhydrite screeds: 7 days
- fast-drying screeds: 3-4 days

The heating effect is obtained by gradually increasing the fluid temperature by about 10°C per day until a temperature 10°-20°C above the operating temperature is reached. This temperature is then maintained for a further 10 consecutive days, with the premises suitably ventilated. This is followed by the cooling process, which involves gradual reduction of the fluid temperature by 10°C per day down to the system's minimum rated temperature. Immediately after this, the temperature is gradually returned to normal operating conditions, capable of guaranteeing the specified ambient temperature of 20°C, with ambient relative humidity between 45% and 60%. In order to maintain the dimensional stability of a wooden floor installed on a heated and/or cooled concrete substrate, the local microclimate must first be checked, and the conditions must be carefully calculated to ensure that two parameters are strictly complied with, both with constant conditions and during transition phases:

- the temperature of the wood flooring which is to have direct heating and/or cooling functions must be within the range of 15-25°C
- the humidity of the air above and below the wood must be within the range 45-60%

Obviously, failure to comply with this range will inevitably cause problems, leading when the heating system is operating during the winter to the shrinkage of the wood, with the creation of cracks which will be larger in floors consisting of wide planks and made of types of wood with lower dimensional stability, while in summer the problems will usually take the form of swelling, with the formation of undulations in the surface, or even raised, detached sections. Since the temperature and humidity at which wood is stable are also the optimal conditions for human comfort, there is no better remedy than to take care to humidify rooms in winter and remove humidity in summer, ensuring that the building really offers the best response to people's physiological needs. To limit the formation of fissures of the wooden floor it is advisable to avoid covering it with carpets or other finishing materials. The wood flooring can be laid on the heated screed using the glued or floating method.

Laying method: glued

Grinding, generalized consolidation and surface proofing are not usually allowed in heated screeds. It is always advisable to apply a suitable primer to improve bonding of adhesives used. The surface temperature of the screed at the moment of laying must be approximately 15-20°C with a relative air moisture content lower than 60%. After the process of laying the floor the temperature must be approximately 15-20°C with a relative air moisture content lower than 60%.

Laying method: floating

This is carried out like on a non-heated screed. The thermal resistance of the condition of the layer of acoustic insulation (approx. 2.5mm) of compressible material which should be laid under the floor finish should be considered when assessing the overall thermal resistance.

Installation methods for 3-layers wooden floors:

Antico Asolo floors can be laid using the glued or floating method. In addition to parameters specific for the type of laying technique and to parameters relevant to the surface condition, there are others which should not be underestimated so as not to compromise the final condition of the parquet. They are:

- environs must be completed with fully glazed frames;
- walls must be finished, dry and the moisture content 2%;
- vapour barrier must be in place;
- temperature of the rooms between +10°C and + 30°C;
- plumbing and electrical systems already been tested.

Laying method: glued

To lay with glue, the sub-floor must have the requirements as specified in the chapter regarding sub-floors. Once checked that all parameters have been met, proceed as follows:

- Lay the glue on the sub-floor which must remain dry, strong and clean;
- The glue will be laid with a spatula of the number suited to the finish to be laid and perpendicular to the laying direction;
- Respect the opened tin life of the glue.

Laying method: floating

Any screed able to resist the static and dynamic loads required for the floor is suitable for laying the floating parquet. The floating wooden floor is always laid on a vapor membrane (or barrier if necessary) or a layer of acoustic insulation, usually composed of an underlay of compressible material or by a felt approximately 2.5mm thick. During laying the membrane or vapour barrier should be turned up on the walls behind the skirting board leaving a distance from the walls proportional to the dimension of the floor. In general a perimeter expansion gap of approx. 1 mm is recommended for a floor of 4x4 m approx. For larger sizes the perimeter expansion gap must be proportionate. In any case, for gaps wider than 1 cm transversely with respect to the wooden element, an expansion joint is necessary. Around the columns or other element projecting from the screed, a gap of approx. 1 cm is recommended. In respect of ramps and joints with other floors suitable expansion joints with joint cover profiles should be used.

GENERAL SALES CONDITIONS

ORDERS

Commission proposals transmitted by the Sales agents are subject to acceptance by the Company.

DIMENSIONS

The dimension of each item, even when specified in the order confirmation, it has to be intended as a mere indication and it has to be consistent with the minimum and maximum dimensions reported on the price list.

TRANSPORT

The person who collects the goods and signs the transport document must verify the number of packages, and shall be responsible for what has been signed. Any complaint and any subsequent action, even for damages, must be addressed directly to the transporter-carrier before collecting the goods, by entering a note on the transport document. Where transport is payable by CP Parquet Srl the courier shall deliver the goods to the ground floor during normal shop opening hours; any portorage service for the delivery of goods to higher floors or in specific hours must be paid directly to the courier upon delivery. The same shall be valid for storage services.

DELIVERIES

Collecting terms have to be intended as approximate between 20 and 90 days starting from the date of receipt of a duly undersigned order confirmation. They may vary according to the manufacturing required. CP Parquet and its agents cannot be held responsible for production delays incurred due to reasons beyond CP Parquet control.

DAMAGES

The customer shall respond directly for damages that the material should suffer for improper storage or negligence; he has the same obligations as the depositary. CP Parquet Srl shall not be held liable for damages that can in any way be related to the laying of the material.

COMPLAINTS

The inspection of the material must be done on arrival. Any dispute regarding moisture content, colour and tonality, must be handled by way of registered letter with advice of receipt within eight days of receipt of the goods and before starting the installation of material. To respect this expiry date, the product shall be guaranteed for one year from the date of delivery of the goods. Complaints cannot be made after the material has been installed. Complaints or disputes shall give no right to the purchaser to suspend or delay payments. Partial returns of materials arrived to their destination shall not be accepted. Any return must be authorized by the Company and travels at the risk and expense of the Customer, who shall attach copy of the transport document and copy of the invoice or purchase receipt of the goods being returned. Complaints must be accompanied by a written request and a technical report which specifies and gives reasons for the problem found.

PRICES

Prices refer to the last price list in force and to the corresponding sales conditions. If there are labour or raw material cost increases before the delivery, including rental, transport, customs duties and exchange rates, CP Parquet Srl shall have the right to review the price in the measure corresponding to the extent of the increases found. If due to said increases the price has become too high, the buyer can cancel the purchase contract, renouncing to any expectation of refund or other towards CP Parquet srl.

PAYMENT

Payments shall be valid only if made directly to CP Parquet Srl, according to the terms indicated in the order acceptance. Interest shall be automatically applied to delayed payments, as indicated by the law. If the delivery term is delayed due to the wish of the Customer, the payment must be made following simple notification of goods ready.

INSOLVENCY

Failure to pay or delayed payment, even of only one deadline agreed on the contract, shall imply the automatic loss of respite benefits. This shall authorize CP Parquet Srl to act to obtain the payment of the remaining difference or immediate resolution of the contract, and to request immediate restitution of the goods. Any incomplete supply shall not authorize the Customer not to pay the delivered goods.

INTERESTS

They shall be applied in compliance with current bank rates.

RETURNS

Must be authorized by the Company and shall be accepted only if delivered carriage free, in integral packaging and no later than 30 days from delivery.

CHANGES IN COLOUR

Since wood is a living material, its original colour tends to change with exposure to sunlight. Wood containing tannin can become yellow or grey.

TERRITORIAL COMPETENCE

For any controversy, the Judicial Authority of Treviso shall be the competent court.

SAMPLES

The samples viewed during the pre-sales phase are provided for illulayersve purposes only. Since wood is a natural material, there may be veining, colour and size differences in the various material batches which constantly alter the products identity and tonality.

As part of its ongoing research and development work to constantly improve its products, CP Parquet reserves the right to change their technical and/or aesthetic features at any time, with proper notice. Updates on prices, special offers and new products are available at www.cpparquet.it.

CONCEALED PARTS:
All characteristics are admitted without limits on dimensions or quantity provided they do not impair resistance or quality of resistance to wear of the parquet flooring.

1 - Splits of knots and holes caused by knots must be grouted
2 - Knots are considered grouped if the separation distance, measured from edge to edge, is less than 30 mm
3 - No limit on Betulla spp. (birch)
4 - Admitted for evaporated or vaporised beech
5 - Brown heart for birch and maple

CONCEALED PARTS:
All characteristics are admitted without limits on dimensions or quantity provided they do not impair resistance or quality of resistance to wear of the parquet flooring.

1 - Healthy sapwood, or heart must be selected according to the type of wood concerned.
2 - Splits of knots and holes caused by knots must be grouted
3 - Knots are considered grouped if the separation distance, measured from edge to edge, is less than 30 mm

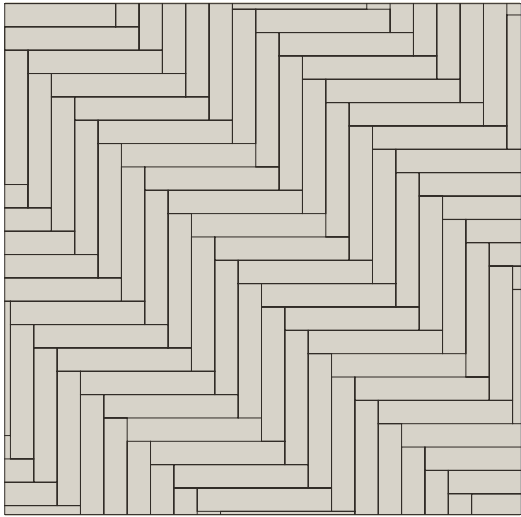

STAGGERED LAYING PATTERN

Each single element, which can also be of different lengths, is placed horizontally in such a way that the head joints form an irregular pattern. Pieces can be placed parallel with the wall or diagonally, inclined 45° or 30° to the walls. When placed parallel, position preferably crosswise to the main source of light. Before starting, check that the walls involved are straight. If not, start laying from the door end so that the elements are parallel to the door.

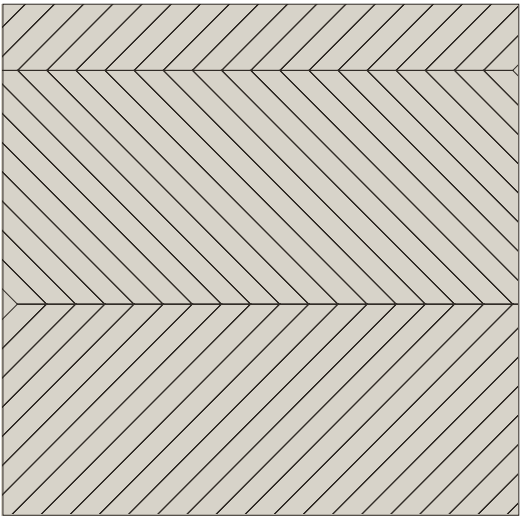

REGULAR LAYING PATTERN

Similar to the staggered pattern, but here the elements are all the same size and placed horizontally in such a way that the head joints form a regular pattern or in any case have the same centre line as each board in the previous row.

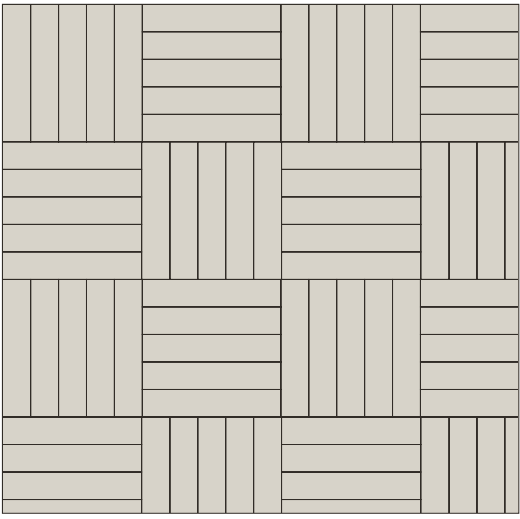

HERRINGBONE

Elements are placed in parallel rows at 90° so that the head of one butts the side of the other. The pattern can be straight or diagonal, but in any case laying begins in the middle of the room, aligning the first row of herringbone with a traced line.

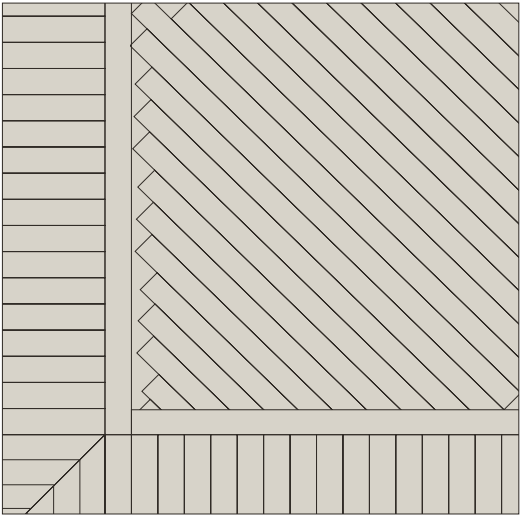

CHEVRON

This type of pattern differs from the one described above because the two short sides of each element are cut with a 45°, 30° or 60° inclination. The laying method is similar to that for herringbone pattern. The floor can be finished with a dividing strip.

MOSAIC OR SQUARES

Single boards are assembled to form a square; their length is an exact multiple of their width. The laying method can be straight or diagonal, but is not suitable for walls that are not perfectly straight. The floor can be finished with a dividing strip.

DIVIDING STRIP

It is thus called the finishing of the perimeter area of the flooring, formed by wooden elements with a different geometry (the band) than the predominant one and others that act as a link (bindello) between the two different laying patterns.

FINISHES: EXPLANATIONS AND GUIDANCE

CLASSICO

The coloured finishes of the Classico collection are obtained by staining the brushed untreated product and then protecting it with a neutral UV primer and water-based varnish. As the colouring is caused by a stain, it will significantly enhance brushing of the fibre, which will be more pronounced than the unbrushed part of the wooden surface.

CP LAB DESIGN: no production problems.

NATURA

The Natura finish is a neutral varnish whose cycle entails the application of a completely water-based primer and surface finish. This process is designed to give the wood a natural “untreated look”, as if it has just been cut. The colour will remain natural and will not turn intense as it does with traditional varnishing. The surface finish is done with zero gloss varnish to achieve an extremely natural surface feel.

CP LAB DESIGN: no production problems.

CP ORE UV

“CP ORE UV” (UV oiled) is the result of applying an oil containing special consolidating agents and transferring the wooden elements into special UV ovens to obtain a protective, resistant and waterproof surface. This makes the wooden floor easier to maintain than a floor with a natural oxidative oil finish, while retaining the same aesthetic features with a similar feel. This finish is not compatible with special processes such as Hand Planing – Marea – Onda – non-standard Bevels – Impronte – Taglio sega, as the oil UV product cannot be applied properly.

CP LAB DESIGN: production possible only on 2 or 3 layer pre-finished elements (no on lamellas).

TERMOTRATTATI (THERMOTREATED)

The heat treatment process entails placing the untreated wood in special heat ovens, allowing its natural shade to darken. The higher the temperature, the darker the wood. The heat treatment stimulates the natural colour of the wood and therefore it will be possible to have some variations caused by the more or less strong presence of tannin in the wooden elements. The benefit of heat treatment is that the colour is activated through the entire thickness of the top layer, which means that the warm colour can be maintained throughout the life of the floor, even after many years and if the parquet needs restoring by sanding and varnishing again. CP Parquet has selected the termo scuro oak (195° C) and termo medio oak 2020 (160° C) for its range of products. The hotter the temperature used for the heat treatment process, the more the wood tends to crystallise. This means that the termo scuro wood cannot be used to make products with special processes because the material tends to chip very easily. Therefore, it is not possible to process elements with a fixed length or carry out processes such as Hand Planing – Marea – Onda – non-standard Bevels or make products such as Chevron, Herringbone and Quadrotte, which can be made with “termo medio 2020” (thermotreated medium 2020) process that crystallise much less. The oxidation process will lighten the shade of the heat-treated material over time and with exposure to light.

STAINING

The staining process is a highly manual process carried out exclusively by our master craftsmen. The wooden surface is coloured without using chemicals, but with stain, which is used to age classic Bassano furniture. The stain is a natural earth which, when mixed with alcohol and shellac, gives an aged appearance to hand planed or brushed floors, bringing out the contrast between surface staining and the staining that seeps in during hand planing and brushing. The surface finish is carried out by applying water-based varnish to fix the stain and protect the floor, which will acquire the appearance of a floor from the past.

REAGENTS

The finishes of the Veneto collection and the grigio nuvola oiled finish are not obtained with coloured stains but with the use of reagents that are applied to the untreated surface of the wood. These reagents interact with the tannins, the natural colouring agents of the wood, and depending on the formulation, shades ranging from brownish to grey are obtained. The benefit of this process is that the reagent not only works on the surface, it also works at a depth of almost 1 mm in the top layer. The flamed effect will not be as pronounced as in the Classico process but will remain much more natural and will blend in completely with the rest of the finish. The tannin reaction process is such that the newly processed wood looks different than the one after the reaction process has matured and will turn the wood to its final shade in 5/6 months, which varies according to exposure of the product to natural light. As the wooden base and the finish are processed using a reagent, there may be a natural shading of the planks of the same batch and brushing will appear uneven. With regard to the Venezia – Vicenza – Padova – Verona – Belluno finishes, special processes such as Hand Planing – Marea – Onda – non-standard Bevelling cannot be carried out because the reagent settles in the indentations on the surface and creates spots.

- The shade variations based on the type of product are given below:
- Oak Venezia – Vicenza: starting from dark brown shades turning lighter towards leather red;
  - Oak Padova – Verona – grigio nuvola: starting from grey shades turning lighter towards hazelnut;
  - Oak Jesolo – Maser / European Ash Este / European Elm Bassano: starting from brown/grey shades turning darker;
  - European Walnut Treviso / European Cherry Petrarca / European Elm Murano / European Pear Valdobbiadene: starting from light grey shades turning darker.

CP LAB DESIGN: production possible only on 2 or 3 layer pre-finished elements (no on lamellas).

BRUNITO (CORE SMOKED)

The procedure to obtain the “core smoked” effect involves the introduction of the raw wood in special cells for which a darkening process is triggered through the use of ammonium salts, allowing the wood to obtain a dark grey/brown colouration. The process with ammonium salts stimulates the natural colour of the wood and therefore it will be possible to have some variations due to the more or less strong presence of tannin in the wood elements. The advantage of this treatment is that the coloring is activated throughout the thickness of the top layer and this will allow you to enjoy the warm color throughout the life of the floor, even after many years and at a time when it was intended to restore the wooden floor by means of extraordinary sanding and repainting. The oxidation process will bring the hue of the core smoked to a slight clearing with time and exposure to light.

CP LAB DESIGN: no production problems.

FINISHING TONES

The same finish made on planks with “BRUSHED” processing will appear slightly different if made on “IMPRONTE” processing and other machining such as “MAREA” - “WAVE” - “RISACCA” - “SEGATO”, due to the different absorption of the finish from the wood pore.
